MARCH OF DIMES

JANUARY 2-31

CHRISTMAS STORY. The Christmas Story was told in this pageant presented by the young people of Trinity Memorial Church last Friday evening.

Directors of the program were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yaegle and Miss Nancy Wickstrom.

BATTLE OF THE BOARDS. Warren's Wink Rickerson (24) fought it out with the Alumni's Nelson in a Friday night contest at Beaty court. The current issue of the Dragons was 90-42 too much for the grads of '56.

THE BIG BOY for the Collegians in the holiday contest with the Style Shop was Bob Wilson, of the U. S. Naval Academy.

He out-played his opponents on the floor and scoring column, racking up 14 in the latter.

TWO-POINTER. This Home Streeter moved fast to lay-up this score against Lacy Saturday.

MOVING ALONG
Ready by spring is the word from United Refinery where about 100 Procon, Inc. workers are installing the newest catalytic cracking unit. Area Keystone stations are expected to be selling the high octane fuel that will result in the spring as a boon to motorists who have the modern engines now being used in American cars. The new unit is costing the United about two million dollars, one of the largest capital outlays ever made for manufacturing facilities in this area.

OTHER CHANGES
Also in the making for local motorists is the installation of new Blue Sunoco equipment at area stations. This will provide the new blending service, through which you decide what blend you want for your motor and order it done right at the pump.

PLEASE REPORT
It is report time for 65,000 aliens in this country. They are required to obtain a form from the post office and to file it this month. Failure to do so can cost them $200, a jail sentence, and deportation.

OVER ONE HUNDRED?
If you are over one hundred years old the Medical Society of Pennsylvania is looking for you. Hand-lettered testimonial plaques are presented to residents who become centurians. Since 1948, the Society has given 418 plaques to those who have exemplified healthful living by topping the century mark.

CHEAP GRAIN
Farmers in this area may be able to buy their grain at reduced prices for their winter feeding. With grain crops yielding about 25 per cent of normal because of the rainy summer, the Grange is asking President Eisenhower to declare it a disaster area. A similar area in Ohio has enjoyed such consideration by Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

MAY SUCCEED
The efforts of state employees to obtain improved working conditions, including civil service and more money may enjoy much success this year. Both parties seem ready to advocate programs that will meet at least some of the requests. Civil service status at least seems to have a chance.

SECURITY COSTS MORE
Starting this month the cost of social security goes up a half per cent. Your pay is nicked 2-1/4 per cent instead of 2, and the employer adds another 2-1/4 per cent. Your future is assured.

BASEBALL PREVIEW
Spring is not as distant as those snow drifts might suggest. This Friday, at 9 p. m., KDKA-TV is moving a program off the air to make room for a baseball preview. Pirate personnel will be interviewed and 1955 movies shown.

ICE SKATING SOON
The kind of weather we were having when this was prepared suggested the borough should be out there with a hose and shovels very soon. A few of these 10 degree nights and the frost should sink well into the ground.

TIDIOUTE ON BIG STORY?
We are told that the Tidioute bank robbery will be used on the tv program known as Big Story. Inasmuch as Big Story programs are built around the part newspapers play in major community events, we don't figure this one.
The Observer reporter was in the bank so soon after the robbery that men working on the building still didn't know about it. The bank manager was amazed to turn from his call to Warren and find a reporter there asking him about the robbery. His only mention of the robbery had been over the phone which he had just hung up.
Where did the reporter get the tip-off? From the Warren office. And where did we get it? No one ever has asked.

BASKETBALL TRIVIA
Every time we visit a Beauty basketball game we wonder why a large parking lot is provided but no cinders are used to relieve the congestion that results on the graded drive which leads to Conewango ave. If the school lacks cinders, the borough might cooperate by adding this spot to its salt detail.
Perhaps the school also should contact the police department for gymnasium and auditorium events. If traffic direction is needed for football, how much more can it be used at the concentrated entry to Beauty when there is ice on the roads and cars dislike stopping after they have climbed the grade?
And in the gym we see mats hung to protect players if they crash into the walls under the basket. But there is a wide gap between the mats, and the gap is directly back of the baskets where a young head is most apt to make contact.
And those Beauty gym lights ... some are out and those that are on lack adequate power and suitable reflectors. It is a dungeon! If you understand photography we can give you a comparison. In neighboring gyms we can take pictures without flash at an opening of 4.5. Using a 2 lense we have difficulty on Beauty!

TRAFFIC TOLL NORMAL
The heavy traffic toll over the holidays was not abnormal. It should grow every year. Our population is increasing and we are driving more cars. That is enough to do it, but it is not the entire story. We also are doing nothing about speed and alcohol.

A friend who recently bought a 1957 model told us that if he had owned a car with that kind of power when he was in his teens he wouldn't be alive today. His wife is afraid to drive it.
Until we do something basic about speed, we will have it, and we will have casualties.

NEW YEAR COMICS
The bowl games are past and have settled nothing. The best schools in the nation did not meet, and there is no arrangement in sight that will guarantee such a meeting. The games as played were a comedy of fumbles. Take away even half the fumbles, or make the ball bounce the opposite way in each case, and the entire picture might have been changed.
But the Tournament of Roses parade looked like the best ever. At least the floats came through well on television. In color it must have been very beautiful.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

NICE JOB

CBS was as usual excellent in its annual summary of the year in a three-hour program Sunday. The first hour on science had its high and low points, and the second hour of news review was good, but the really excellent hour was the one in which Edward R. Murrow interviewed his key correspondents from the major points of the globe.

A very intelligent and well-informed group, they did an unusually fine job of balancing up the gains and losses of the past year and in bluntly analyzing the situation as it will affect the year to come.

It summarized in our mind as follows:

War is either very close this year or we have a good chance to prepare a lasting peace, depending on how the Russians react to their loss of face in Hungary. There is a Communist gain in the Middle East and Africa.

Israeli has made a temporary gain through the destruction of Egyptian war material before the Egyptians had learned to use it, but it has made itself more isolated than ever, an island among a group of unfriendly neighbors.

England has lost much through a panicky move by its conservative leaders who reverted to 19th century imperialism in a critical situation. France lost face but may have gained a bit by having its African dream shattered to reality.

A new kind of satellite is developing in east Europe, which some might consider a first step toward complete freedom, and others will call a new kind of colonialism. The Poles are ready to fight and Russia is not apt to push them, but they still are surrounded by Soviet might.

The front in Russia is not solid. There are a few who actually were shocked at the action in Hungary and said so to the American press. ***

Both China and the United States have gained in the Orient. Our action against the colonial policy of England and France in the Suez situation proved very impressive to the small nations of the Far East. But much good would be done for us in that area if we were to seat the Communist Chinese government in the United Nations.

The United States now is in the position of moderator, but it must remain strong to assure its power. It, however, must use its power to the minimum if it is to continue as a leader. Here there were differences, some correspondents claiming that we must quietly tell Russia what must be done in east Europe, and be prepared to back it up with guns.

A planned war is not likely in 1957, but there are powder kegs lying about which could precipitate one at any moment. It is a delicate year. ***

We especially enjoyed the hour of commentators because they had the courage to do just that. It seems that most of our television news is handled by mincing casters who lack either the ability or the courage to take on the major subjects of the day with anything more radical than a straight report. ***

SAVE AND FILTERS SAVE CIGARETTES

Advertising is an instrument so powerful that it can defeat fear of a major killer. Despite the columns of words which have been used to suggest that leading scientists believe there is a connection between the ever-increasing lung cancer and the smoking of cigarettes, the output of the little smokes went up 4.8 per cent last year and the consumption of them increased 3.4 per cent.

All the warnings and all the publicity used to combat the disease are not as strong as the millions spent to sell billions of cigarettes. Part of this success no doubt is due to the public's willingness to believe that it can have its fun and live by smoking through filters or through king sized fags. The sale of these has revived the industry and their growth is phenomenal. So is the growth of cancer in American lungs.

In 1957 you will see much of a new brand, known as Hit Parade. Though a newcomer, nearly two billion of them were sold in 1955 and they are expected to keep the American Tobacco boys on top of the sale race. Today American is selling thirty per cent of the entire market. R. J. Reynolds has about 26 per cent of it, and Liggett and Myers has 16 per cent.

Camels led the sale with close to 70 billion or 17 per cent of the total market in 1956. This is a slight decrease for Camels, and obviously does not help Reynolds in its pursuit of American with its Pall Malls, which sold about 56 billion and were third with 14 per cent of the total. It now has a king sized filtered brand, Hit Parade, coming along fast to keep it well up there. Made of popular Burley blend, and supposedly offering protection, Hit Parades are moving up rapidly. And American also has Lucky Strikes which were second last year with 56 billion and a little over 14 per cent of the market.

The rest of the fags ran as follows: Winston fourth with 34 billion, Chesterfield fifth with 25 billion, Viceroy sixth with 25 billion, L and M had 21 billion, Marlboro sold 14 billion, Philip Morris sold almost 14 billion, and Old Gold sold 10 billion.

The biggest gain was enjoyed by Viceroy which has increased its sale 840 per cent in four years, right through the hottest publicity concerning the suspected danger of cigarettes. So strong was the habit, and so well did the advertising business do the job for the tobacco companies that millions of Americans chose to risk filters and length rather than to give up a practice that is suspected of being a contributor to one of our major diseases.

We believe it is a sad commentary on the best brains in this major branch of our business world that they are willing to sell themselves to an effort that may be accounting for the lives of many. If these same talents were used to support the battle against cancer to the same degree that they are used to sell a highly controversial product, more money would be available and the battle might be won more quickly.

Is the press, radio, television, and the advertising business for hire by any potential customer who has the money to pay for time or space?

BUYERS' CORNER

TAXES, TAXES, TAXES

The editor's mail these days is well filled with releases from various groups who are taking a swing at a large number of taxes. The Pennsylvania Automotive Association does not like the Governor's Tax Study Committee's proposal that the sales tax be assessed against the total price of a car without exemption for the trade-in value.

We don't either. In fact we very much dislike the sales tax in any form. It smacks the little guy right between the bill folds. He spends most of his income, and millions make no more than enough to spend in full each year. The sales tax catches them on nearly every cash register ring. The big earner puts a large share of it in places where the sales tax does not reach. It is possible for him to pay no more sales tax than the much smaller wage-earner.

A man making $4,000 a year may buy a $3,000 car, which would cost him $90 in sales tax. The $10,000 salary man might buy a $4,000 car on which he would pay $120. The tax is not proportionate.

And as the Automotive Association says, "Removal of the sales tax exemption for the value of trade-in allowances would hit hardest at the 'little guy'. This is true with or without the trade-in angle.

However, we certainly will go along with the opposition to such a change. You already have paid a sales tax on the car you own. Why should you pay it again when it is traded in? You should pay only on the difference, or the actual cash outlay.

Then there is the Pennsylvania State Grange. It is out after tax refunds for farmers who use gasoline in their work. These payments have been slow coming through and the Grange is asking for action. It also wants the law re-enacted before it expires June 30, 1957. In fact, it is sponsoring legislation to exempt farm used gasoline from taxation on a permanent basis.

We wonder if this is a wise move? Any of us who uses gasoline in his work counts it as an expense. It thus reduces his profit. Why complicate it with exceptions? Why not just keep an efficient set of books and count the entire expenditure as a part of your business costs?

The National Association of Manufacturers is pleading for economy in the Federal budget. It argues that the budget was balanced the last two years because revenue exceeded expectations. It also says the excess was added to the budget for the following year with no effort to make a saving. It claims that non-security spending by the government will go up twenty per cent, or about $4 billion over the 1955 to 1957 period.

We are not so alarmed about the money received by the government as we are about the way it is spent. We believe we could have all the services we now have, and more, if ordinary business economies were put into effect. There is too much duplication and waste.

We are sure the NAM is not so interested in economy as it is in less government services. And its greatest emphasis in the long run will be on services which it wants private industry to undertake.

MORE SOCIAL SECURITY

Several professional categories are now added to the social security list. Those coming under this coverage must obtain social security numbers and include them on their tax forms.

Added to the list by 1956 amendments were lawyers, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, chiropractors, naturopaths, and optometrists. They for the first time will be required to file a special social security form as a part of the income tax return.

KEEP POINSETTIA

Maybe you would like to keep that poinsettia which you received for Christmas. It will last much longer if you watch the temperature. The plant likes the morning sunshine, and if you have a window that brings it in, your plant will be happy. The plant likes a night temperature between 55 and 60 degrees. If you can find a room that ranges in that area, that is where to keep your poinsettia.

PIPE THAWING

The severe weather which arrived early this week no doubt resulted in a few frozen pipes. Many times this occurs when a plumber cannot be obtained immediately. The home-done job often proves a little costly when amateurs attempt to apply blow torches or other forms of intense heat.

If you must do it yourself, wrap the frozen portion with cloths or sacks and pour hot water on the cloth. Or you can use electric heat.

REPAIR FURNITURE

If the holidays have been rough on your good furniture, leaving scratches, you can touch it up yourself. If the scratch is not more than a sixteenth of an inch deep, paint the scratch with white shellac. When it dries, paint it again. Use a small brush so that you get paint only in the scratch.

When the shellac has been painted to a level even with the rest of the surface, sand lightly to make it smooth. Rub it with a polish or an oil stain of the right color and finish with a final polish.

If the gouge is deep, build it up with a wood filler, sand it, stain, and polish. But only after the filler is thoroughly dried.

Will Meekness Inherit The South?

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. -- In this season we are reminded again, in so sorely troubled a world, of the man who said, "The meek shall inherit the earth," it seems appropriate to pay tribute to a new kind of chivalry that is showing itself in the South. We might call it the chivalry of meekness.

It has appeared among many who were beyond the pale of the legendary chivalry, for they are descendants of those who were slaves in the day of that other proud, and sometimes arrogant, sort of chivalry. They are Negroes.

It appears also among white people here and there, many of them not people of great worldly consequence but those who believe in decency, in kindness and in law and order. Their chivalry, and that of so many Negroes, is putting to shame the actions and attitudes of others in the South.

Some of these others are in high positions of authority. This should instill a sense of responsibility but it hasn't. Some claim lineage from the old tradition of chivalry. But they make a mockery of decency and kindness and the law they swear to uphold. They refuse to carry the new white man's burden, which not only our Supreme Court, but Christian ethics, has imposed upon the leaders of the South.

It is, indeed, a heavy burden. But so was slavery, and so is discrimination. A whole race first carried the burden of slavery and, since it was abolished, of discrimination. That covered a period of two centuries. The day of deliverance is long overdue.

For chivalry, we give you the Negroes of Montgomery, Ala., and their leaders, including the Rev. Martin Luther King.

For weeks, the Rev. King met and counseled with his congregation and others, initially during their boycott of buses and recently in anticipation of the Justice Department's order to carry out the bus integration decision. He reminded them of their obligation to themselves as they practice the rights that finally have been recognized -- their obligation to conduct themselves with dignity and with politeness and never to use violence, no matter what the provocation.

This was the course of meekness. Meekness if not weakness. Rather, it is strength and, more than that, courage.

Earlier, they had resorted to passive resistance, a sort of militant meekness, when one of their number, a woman, was put off a bus. They simply absented themselves from the buses. For those who worked too far from their homes to walk, they organized their own car pool for transportation.

For chivalry in another area, involving desegregation of the public high school in Clinton, Tenn., we give you the white minister of the First Baptist Church of Clinton, the Rev. Paul W. Turner. We give you also the two citizens who accompanied him when he escorted several Negro children to the high school, Sidney Davis, a local lawyer, and Leo Burnett, accountant at the local hosiery mill.

The minister was beaten up afterward by some local hooligans who, however, did not touch the other two men.

From a beautifully done report in The Nation by two Tennessee writers, Wilma Dykeman and James Stokely, we take an inspiring sidelight from this latest Clinton episode. First, what one of the Negro girls who walked to school with the minister that day said:

"Rev. Turner was wonderful. When we came down the hill and saw some people waiting there outside the school, he just kept saying to us, 'Don't be afraid, I won't let them hurt you.'"

Then this from the girl's mother about the Rev. Turner:

"He knows courage all right. But I think he must have something else, too. Mr. Turner must know love."

For chivalry, we give you also the principal of the high school, D. J. Brittain Jr., who has stood up so courageously for the law.

We give you, too, his white students who have backed him up all the way, and the many, many citizens of Clinton who have supported him and the law and who voted, 4 to 1, in the recent election to defeat candidates for mayor and other local offices who were put up by the White Citizens Council.

The new chivalry is not really new. It exhibited itself under the direction of responsible Negro leaders as long ago as 1946 in an incident which this reporter observed first-hand. This was after the Supreme Court had outlawed the so-called "white primary" in a Georgia case.

Governor Ellis Arnall issued a statement calling upon the people of the state to obey the law. Thereafter, in anticipation of a much larger number of Negro voters than the normal token vote, Negro ministers in Atlanta spoke to their congregations every Sunday night for several weeks before the 1946 primary election of their new obligation.

They explained how this was a big opportunity and enjoined their congregations that much would depend on how they comported themselves on Election Day. How well they did, and in how orderly a manner, can be testified to by this reporter who spent all of Election Day visiting polling places all over the city.

Is it too much to hope that a miracle may be wrought in the South by virtue of this chivalry that is compounded of meekness, courage, and love?

ACTING PATHOLOGIST. Dr. William J. Tracy, Jr., of WCA Hospital in Jamestown, has been appointed acting pathologist at Warren General Hospital. He will supervise the local department until a permanent successor is named to replace Dr. Joseph R. Sugarman. A graduate of the University of Buffalo, Dr. Tracy is well trained in clinical pathology and pathologic anatomy. He is well known at the hospital and to the local medical staff, having been engaged at Warren General on several occasions for a temporary period.

Applications for the permanent position of pathologist at the hospital are now being considered jointly by the board's executive committee and the medical staff. The vacancy resulted November 27 when Dr. Sugarman and the board of directors announced they were unable to arrive at a satisfactory contract agreement.

PERSONALITIES Dr. Quay A. McCune, Warren, will serve during 1957 as a member of the Commission on Industrial Health and Hygiene of The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania. He was re-appointed by Dr. Elmer G. Shelley, North East, president of the society.

DELEGATES. This area was represented at the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education association in Harrisburg last week by James Cable, Northwest district president; Richard Hiles, president, Fred Bauer, vice president, Helen Morrow, delegate to department of classroom teachers, and H. J. Sherwood, delegate, all of Warren County; and Thomas Barratt, delegate Warren borough.

SCHOLARSHIPS. Teachers of this area who are interested in receiving a scholarship to the Conservation Laboratory at the Pennsylvania State University are asked to contact Mrs. G. W. Buerkle, Warren, chairman of the Gen. Joseph Warren chapter DAR conservation committee.

Last year the Pennsylvania DAR chapters provided eight scholarships to teachers in the state's schools.

Henry (Heinie) Anderson, Warren, has accepted the appointment of business manager of the Greensboro Patriots, a team in the Class B Carolina baseball league and member of the Boston Red Sox farm system.

For the past three seasons he has been holding a similar position with the Corning, N. Y., team in the PONY league.

HEARING CHANGED. January 10th has now been set as the date when Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., will hand down his opinion on the motion for a new trial for Norman W. Moon, 30-year-old Connellsville man convicted in the courtroom slaying of Judge Allison D. Wade here on January 13, 1954.

The previous date was January 9. This was set in November after Judge Flick heard oral arguments on the motion for a new trial and then ordered the defense to file its briefs.

Moon, now in Western Penitentiary, must be in Warren to hear the decision and will be sentenced if the motion for a new trial is denied.

A NEW YEAR'S DAY accident investigated by police took place at the intersection of Pennsylvania ave.

and Hickory st. around 9:00 a.m. Cars that collided and caused $450 damage were operated by Richard Schweiger, West Lafayette, Ind., who was proceeding west on the avenue, and Emil E. Schwab, 229 Pleasant drive, who was going north on Hickory.

Both claimed they had the green light.

MEN IN SERVICE, Specialist 3/C David L. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover G. Hansen, 706 East st., Warren, recently re-enlisted in Puerto Rico for three years in the regular Army. A 1953 graduate of Warren high school, he entered the Service in December 1954 and is now a member of the 820th Military Police platoon.

HAZARDOUS SPOT. The slippery condition of the Pennsylvania ave. bridge near the Conewango ave. intersection was responsible for three accidents Friday and Saturday.

At 8:54 p.m. Friday Robert Hartnett, 804 W. Fifth ave., slid into the rear of a stopped auto operated by Mrs. Narcissa Scalise, 207 E. Fifth ave., causing over $200 damage.

On the following morning at 10:45 three cars piled up at the same place and the result was $160 damage. First to stop was Eugene Brown, 30 Water st. He was struck by Marion Pettegrew, 4 Beaty Court, who in turn was hit by Floyd G. Russell, R.D. 2, Warren.

Fifteen minutes earlier Vernon Nordine, 112 Beaty st., plowed into the back end of a stopped car driven by Mrs. Cornelius Graebner, 107 Grant st. The latter suffered a sprained neck and damage to her car amounted to $75.

EUGENE GAUGHN, 52, public relations studies manager for the American Telephone and Telegraph in New York City and former Warren resident, died Tuesday, January 1, at his home in Glenwood Gardens, Yonkers, N.Y. He was born in Warren, Pa., on November 7, 1904, to Joseph F. and Josephine Killeen Gaughn. A graduate of St. Joseph's elementary and Warren high schools, he received his degree from Syracuse university in 1928. In 1934 he married Helen Wright of Utica.

Mr. Gaughn is survived by his wife, a brother, Dr. Joseph F. Gaughn, Erie, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Schindler, Warren.

His career began 29 years ago with the New York Phone Co. in Syracuse, where he was made man-

EMBLEM OIL COMPANY has announced the appointment of Robert H. Soderberg as manager of the Warren District. He will assume the position vacated by Bob Dixon, who has joined the staff of NAT Motors.

Mr. Soderberg was born and raised in Warren and graduated from Warren High School in 1933. During World War II, he served with the U. S. Army Signal Corps in the European Theatre. He was employed by the Signal Oil Company, Los Angeles, Calif., for some period of time and more recently by the Sunshine Packing Corporation in North East, Pa.

ager in 1940. Moving to Utica in 1942, he was made public relations manager in 1944 and advertising manager in 1948. After joining AT&T, he became assistant manager in 1950 and public relations studies manager in 1954.

QUARTER SESSIONS court convened at the Warren County Court House Friday with Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., presiding.

After pleading guilty to a forgery charge, Harold Casperson, of Warren, was fined $100 and ordered to pay costs of prosecution. Randall Goodard, Erie County, was sentenced to 25 days in the county jail and directed to pay costs and a $100 fine on a drunken driving charge.

A reckless driving charge against Rue Dickey, Warren, was dismissed when the jury found him not guilty.

'CALL TO FREEDOM' — The big scenes from Beethoven's "Fidelio" were captured in sight and sound by NBC-TV's "Project 20" producer Henry Salomon (center) at the reopening of the rebuilt Vienna State Opera, celebrating Austria's rebirth of freedom last year. They will emerge prominently in "Call to Freedom," a 90-minute program telling one of the most meaningful stories of our day: the march of a people toward liberty and justice. It will be telecast on "Producers' Showcase" Monday, Jan. 7. With Salomon here are Irmgard Seefried and Anton Dermota, two of the internationally celebrated singing stars in the "Fidelio" cast.

Text And Example

Agnes de Mille's "The Art Of Choreography" on "Omnibus" the other night didn't have quite the sweep and conclusiveness of any of Leonard Bernstein's TV essays on music but it was nevertheless a very nourishing and rewarding mixture of education and entertainment.

In brief, Miss de Mille traces -- skimpily but effectively -- the development of choreography from the primitive African war dance to the sophisticated studies in form and motion of the classical Russian ballet. Much of this was elemental but even the more advanced members of her large classroom could enjoy her examples performed by some very fine principals, including Diana Adams, Frederick Franklin, James Mitchell, Kelly Brown and Sonia Arova, and a corps de ballet of seventeen.

Miss de Mille is a woman of formidable opinion and, while narration is not her specialty exactly, she managed to shed withering scorn on the idea of the dance as an effeminate exercise by showing an African war dance and a Scottish sword dance of unquestionable masculinity and to express her opinion of rock 'n' roll with a shrug of her shoulders. There were large chunks of choreography by George Balanchine and virtually all of "Sylphides" by Fokine in spite of which one had difficulty escaping the idea that Miss de Mille invented most of the art herself.

This single-mindedness, though, is not so much ego as simple dedication to the art of the dance which forms Miss de Mille's world and which she has greatly enriched. These are really wonderful educational TV shows and I hope something is being done to preserve them for classroom use. It seems to me that Bernstein's three or four essays and Miss de Mille's two (last year she did the art of the ballet) could form the basis for a course in music and dance all by themselves.

In any case, while educational broadcasters are still floundering around wondering how to take the curse of the classroom off their broadcasts, these programs should provide an excellent course in instruction. They are a mixture of text and example and each needs the other; alone neither text nor example would mean very much. First, though, you need an expert like Miss de Mille or Mr. Bernstein or Professor Baxter on Shakespeare whose function is partly, their expertness, but mostly the enormous enthusiasm and dedication which made them the experts they are.

Miss de Mille emphasized again and again that the dance is simply a means of communication between audience and dancer. Essentially, all TV programs are the same thing except that the higher you progress in culture the harder it is to make that communication and consequently the more dedicated and fervid the communicator must be. If his enthusiasm is great enough, I imagine even a herpetologist could make his subject absorbing to a mass audience.

A reader writes that in summing up the more memorable telecasts of 1956, I should have included a few of the great news breaks of the year which TV carried such as the sinking of the Andrea Doria and the U. N. emergency sessions following Israel's invasion of Egypt (which, being in South America, I missed). Even though it was on film, the sinking of the Andrea Doria was a news event peculiarly suited to television. It was above all a picture story whose enormity still eludes the writers. (If any writer has managed to convey the immensity of that floating city slipping beneath the waves half as well as a two-minute film clip, I have yet to read it. There has been an ocean of words written about it; no writer to my knowledge has yet captured the event.)

Still 1956 is not notable for great news events on TV, either on film or live. For purely unexpected pleasures on TV, I must include Miss Shirley MacLaine's appearance at the "Around The World In Eighty Days" Hollywood premiere on Steve Allen's show. Miss MacLaine, bubbling with good spirits, didn't know where she had been or how old her baby was or how long she'd been married -- but she felt absolutely wonderful and it was contagious. It brightened the whole show.

There are many who abhor the fact that some of our young people are attending night spots and are tipping the alcoholic cup. There even are some who are surprised that there are young people who find pleasure in such a pastime.

The only aspect about this situation that is amazing to us is the adult surprise, or alleged surprise, and the resultant wringing of hands. What did they expect?

On New Year's eve a large percentage of our adult population dreamed up ways of spending its last night of 1956 and the first morning of 1957. A lack of imagination was quite evident.

Whether the night was spent in a private home or in night clubs there was one magic ingredient that solved the happiness problem. Without some sort of alcoholic beverage too many of us wouldn't know what to do for fun. It is the leveler, the equalizer, the relaxer, the easy answer to what shall we do.

It is not surprising then that the young people have a urge to give it a try. Many of them see it done within their own homes. Like smoking, they may be told they are not old enough. And so like smoking they will have a try at it.

It should not be surprising to us that the young people whose minds we consider so agile also are sufficiently ingenious to find a way to obtain the prohibited cup. Neither should we be astounded to learn that there are less principled bar-keepers who will sell to anyone who has money.

What happens on New Year's is a mighty common form of entertainment for millions of us throughout the four seasons. If we are bored by our lack of ability to find a way to enjoy a social evening, we always can make the most simple of activities much rosier with a few gurgles from a bottle.

Making the rounds on Saturday night is a ritual with a large share of our adult population. To suggest anything else is to ostracize you in many circles. And to suggest anything that might interfere with the night club, dining, wining, and dancing whirl is the shocking, shuddering, babbling of a sad-faced introvert.

Pub crawling is an international sport, so attractive to so many that it even is played up in travel plans by the professionals whose job it is to make all points of the universe attractive. If there were a new kind of floor show playing on the moon, rocket volunteers would be no farther away than the nearest cocktail shaker.

The night life of the world is given a plug by the European Travel Commission which circulates six typewritten sheets to describe what a night owl can find to prickle his feather tips in most any nation. The after-dark diversions begin in earnest in countries across the Atlantic when the New Year pops its cork. Husky-voiced chanteuses, smokey cellars, gypsy violinists, candle-lit tables, and colorful cabarets beckon you to buy a ticket.

Starting on London's Piccadilly Circus you will find over forty shows, a wide selection of symphony orchestras, opera, and ballet, but if you yearn to escape culture and crawl the pubs, England's range reaches from the "shove ha' penny" pub which closes at 10:30 to spots which will feed your thirst around the clock.

Fed up with everything American night clubs can concoct to relieve your boredom you will find some European twists to night-time gaiety. Real British is the Elizabethan Room of the Gore Hotel in Knightsbridge. When you enter this oak-paneled place you will find everything styled to five centuries ago, including the costumed wench who hands you the menu of 16th century dishes, to draughts of Elizabethan mead and the balladeer and his ancient "Foggy, Foggy Dew", "Barbara Allen", and "Green-sleeves".

And there is Paris with its Left Bank, Place Pigalle, Moulin Rouge, and similar famous attractions. Paris has been so much in the papers, books, movies, and television that you almost know what to do.

But in Austria you will find imagination and service with new assists. You will have telephones and pneumatic tube message systems reaching each table in one large night club. Purpose? To enable you to flirt with the lady across the room!

In the Hippodrome they have horses in the floor show and you are welcome to ride them. And in another spot you are urged to lead the band, though the Bavarian musicians probably will ignore you.

As for getting home without losing your car, your license, or your life, these Austrians handle that conveniently. The tavern proprietor will call the central chauffeur bureau and a man will be at your side immediately. He will drive your car to the hotel, park it nearby, and return the keys to your hotel lobby. Similar traffic pilots are available in Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, and other European nations. They try to keep all tourists alive for next year.

With so much adult emphasis placed on a form of pleasure which often is glamorized in drama, and certainly is reviewed with elaboration by those who have participated, it is little wonder that our young people decide it must be worth a sample. And having sampled, some will very much enjoy its synthetic pleasure. It some times takes a few years to discover the inadequacies. Meanwhile, much has been lost that may never be recovered.

But we are not attempting a piece on the wages of alcohol. We are saying that the example is there, the night spots are available, the refreshments can be obtained. Don't be surprised if your son or daughter is one of those having a whirl at emulating so-called mature recreation.

Luxury

HOME HEATING AT LOW COST

UNMISTAKABLY, it's true luxury heating with a famous Pennsylvania Air Conditioning Gas Furnace—even, constant temperature without effort... new cleanliness... years of efficient, trouble-free furnace operation. The cost of this investment in more comfortable, gracious living? A surprisingly low figure that becomes still less, when you take into account the true dollar-value of a happier, healthier home. Ask us for complete details.

Prohibition Technique In Segregation Fight

By Doris Fleenon

WASHINGTON. -- The parallel for the South's strategy in cases involving segregation is to be found in the Prohibition era. As will be disclosed in the Federal courtroom in Knoxville, Tenn., starting January 19, the primary efforts of Southern attorneys will be to force jury trials of defendants charged with criminal contempt.

During Prohibition, in locality after locality where the noble experiment was unpopular, juries refused to convict no matter what evidence was put before them. This was so well recognized that in many places attempts at state enforcement were all but abandoned and "The Feds" made the only serious attempts to prosecute the violators of the Prohibition law.

A similar pattern is emerging with segregation. Agitator John Kasper was freed by a Tennessee jury in a state court, but subsequent troubles in Clinton landed the defendants in the Knoxville Federal Court on charges of criminal contempt of that court.

These charges are the only effective weapon the Federal courts have to enforce their decrees in such cases. Fearful of such power in the hands of judges, the South is seeking through the jury system to nullify it.

The first move, therefore, of Southern lawyers in Knoxville will be to obtain jury trials for the Clinton defendants. They will rely upon environmental pressures upon Southern jurors to achieve the ends they seek, although it should be noted that the atmosphere of the Federal courts is such that local pressures do not operate as freely as in local courts.

The opposition to Prohibition was not, of course, confined to any one area of the country. In greater or less degree it permeated virtually every state of the Union. The South's great handicap in the present situation is that it stands alone.

Its leaders are further embarrassed by the fact that segregation practices are identified with Klu Kluxery and the white supremacists. Too often also the opposition to integration has found its spokesmen in Tobacco Road. For this reason, the South has had little support from public opinion, even in areas remote from the integration fight. Hence its realization that nothing remains but the nullification of the Supreme Court's decree in the Southern states.

The fight reaches into Washington through recent efforts by former Governor James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and others to elicit the same kind of conservative support which has enabled the South to dominate Congress since 1938.

In the hands of molders of public opinion and influential conservatives in Congress are lengthy and carefully prepared legal briefs supporting the right to trial by jury in cases of criminal contempt.

What gives their arguments plausibility is that there seems to be reason for requesting jury trials in cases where the contempt did not take place in the presence of the court or where the defendants were not specific parties to the court's injunctions.

Unquestionably it is an issue with which the Supreme Court will sometime have to deal. If the South's strategy should succeed, the high court will be left with segregation which cannot be effectively enforced. The country will have again, in effect, a situation reminiscent of the famous comment of President Andrew Jackson: "John Marshall (Chief Justice) has made his decision; now let him enforce it."

At such a point, the segregation issue would move back into the Congressional arena with an explosive force which would be felt in the politics of every state of the Union.

CHRISTMAS WINNER, Mrs. Max Davis was the winner of this car given by the merchants in the "400" block in Warren. Here the youngest member of the family, Becky, discovers that the car is too small for her. Mrs. Davis informs us that the battery-driven, five-mile-per-hour vehicle is for sale.

The winner resides in Youngsville.

Mrs. Sylvia Erickson, now residing in Russell, celebrated her 75th birthday on December 24.

She was born in 1881, in a lumber camp called Big Shanty, near Bradford, the daughter of William and Susan Arnold Mason.

Mrs. Erickson has never regretted the fact that her birthday and Christmas gifts are usually one, claiming she "fares just fine" regardless.

CONFERENCE PLAY OPENS

The defending Meadville Bulldogs will visit unbeaten Warren to headline the opening of Section Two basketball conference play Friday night.

While the Meadville squad has only posted a 4-3 record this season against Warren's string of six wins, the Bulldogs will nevertheless be strong. A good deal of the team's support comes from returnees Wesley Roberts, Bob Evans, Lloyd Eubanks, Joe Boyersmith and Bob Pringle -- three ranging over the six-foot mark. They figured in Meadville's unmarred league record in the last campaign.

Undefeated Franklin draws the loop curtain by entertaining winless Titusville and should make its mark as a strong contender this season. The Knights will suffer a blow at mid-term though, when they lose a star in Snell.

Corry will take its 4-1 record to Oil City to round out Section Two action. The Oilers are also without a victory on their regular schedule and have been unable to reach the 50 mark in scoring.

Dropping over to the Allegheny Mountain circuit there is only one contest listed between Emporium and Sheffield (3-2) on the Wolverines' hardwood.

The Upper Allegheny Valley loop also starts play with Northern Area (5-1) invading Youngsville (0-5), Pleasantville at Tidioute (2-5), and East Forest (Marienville) going to West Forest (Tionesta).

Pleasantville played off a tie with Northern Area to win the title last season.

WINS LEAGUE TILT

Home Street jumped off to a 14-2 first period lead Saturday and then coasted to a 30-18 victory over Lacy for a Gra-Y league victory on the YMCA court. Schoenfeld was top man for the winners with 10 counters, but game honors went to Lacy's Brooks for his 12 marks.

Tonight (Thursday) North Warren plays host to Jefferson on the Community House floor. At 12:00 Saturday Sugar Grove plays Lacy, with a later tilt at 6:30 pitting East Street against McClintock on the "Y" floor.

COLLEGIANS TOO CLASSY

A classy combination of ex-Warren high players called Collegians took little time to become acquainted on the Beaty hardwood Friday night and walloped the independent Style Shop five 76 to 47. The contest was a prelim before the slated Warren high-Alumni game.

The Collegians wasted no time in earning a wide spread the first period and maintained control from there on in.

Bob Wilson, of the Naval Academy, and Harry Danielson, former Indiana Teachers player, gave the Collegians the necessary height to make a nice combination with the fast moving actions of Chuck Reese, Dick Koebley and Bob Harrington.

The Academy lad also took scoring honors with 14, Koebley contributed 13, and Reese and Danielson each hit for 12. Dick Christensen and Hud Berdine teamed up for 23 of the Stylers' points.

AREA CAGE SCORES

Warren and Franklin grabbed a couple Alumni victories Friday night to continue as the only unbeaten Section Two conference teams. The Dragons had little resistance in their 90-42 contest, while Franklin had more opposition with a 55-49 finish.

The Oilers of Oil City dropped a 58-49 decision to Brookville in the Class A finals of the Derrick tournament. In the Class B contest it was Cranberry over Oil City St. Joe's 56 to 47.

Sharon extended its win string to seven by defeating Sharpville 69-48, the most points scored against them this season. Ron Dumars paced the victory with 26 counters. Powerful Fredonia (Class C) scored 58-36 over Commodore Perry for its fifth of the season against a 45-44 loss to Class A Sharpville.

Elsewhere in Warren County, Northern Area tripped its Alumni five 46 to 27. At the same time the Sheffield Alumni, undefeated last year, rolled up a 78-46 triumph over the Wolverines.

Out Erie way the scores were close over the week end. McDowell (Millcreek) nipped Erie Tech 58-56, Academy downed East 54-48, and Vincent tripped Prep 61-59.

Others show Bradford 60, Collegians 56; Otto Twp. 60, Bradford Jayvees 48; DuBois 54, Brockway 40; and Coudersport 43, Portville 23.

GRILLERS WIN TOURNEY

The Friendly Grill defeated Oil City 97 to 59 Friday night to claim the annual Jamestown YMCA Invitational tournament championship. Warren's lone entry, the Style Shop, was knocked off by the Grill five in the opening round.

GOOD AS EVER. Chuck Reese, performing as smoothly as ever, got off this jump shot while performing for the Collegians against the Style Shop in a week-end feature at Beaty Friday night.

The ex-Dragon star found the hoop for 12 counters.

COUNTY ALUMNI GAMES

Four of the five Warren county cage varsity clubs took on their Alumni squads over the holiday.

The Warren Dragons had little opposition and came out on top of a 90-42 score. Dick Danielson, Jim Mohnkern and Ed Rickerson combined for 48 of the victory points, while John Harrington was big man for the returnees with 16.

Northern Area was also successful, winning by a 46-27 margin. It was Bud Rowland and Den McNally who collected seven counters each to pace the Knights. Orcutt was high for the Alumni with a dozen.

Down Tidioute way the Alumni suffered a 50-35 licking as Dick Morrison and Tom McManigle tallied 17 and 15 points respectively. Best for the oldsters with 10 was Tom Robertson.

The only high varsity to lose was Sheffield. Last season's undefeated squad came back in force to nip one 78-46.

New Visiting Hours Started At Hospital

Under a new plan adopted by the Warren General Hospital board of directors, persons are now permitted to visit patients anytime between the hours of 1:00 p. m. and 8:00 p. m. daily with the exception of the maternity pediatrics departments, where the hours remain 2:30 to 3:30 p. m., and 7:30 to 8:30 p. m.

A previous regulation permitting only two visitors for each patient in a room has been continued, but the longer visiting period eases this situation.

The action took place at the November board meeting when the executives also heard a report from Dr. John R. McGibony and Daniel L. Drosness, consultants from the Graduate School of Public Health at the University of Pittsburgh who have completed a study of Warren County relative to the present and future hospital needs.

In general the study reviewed the community, its population, trends, economy, health and other pertinent factors, health and related resources, the hospital, physicians, nursing homes, welfare, and other agencies.

Dr. McGibony also reviewed services related to chronic and convalescent care to determine if the existing unused old maternity unit could be utilized for additional beds and at the same time provide improved services to these patients and to the community.

Before any action is taken by the board and medical staff, further study will be given the consultants' 30-page report.

Press Time Thoughts....

GOOD NEWS to those merchants and businessmen who collect your sales tax, and no doubt good news to you, concerns the stamp plan for the Pennsylvania sales tax which did not go into effect on January 1. The Dauphin county court ruled against it. (Now if we could find a way to have them rule against the unfair tax itself we might get rid of a nuisance.)

BAD NEWS FROM ERIE is to the effect that the Erie Daily Times has bought the Erie Dispatch Herald. There already are too many one-newspaper towns in the country, and too many where the paper also owns the radio and television stations.

Monopoly in the newspaper industry is becoming a major danger to our basic liberties and does nothing for freedom of the press. There is something sick about an industry which can not keep a magazine like Colliers going with over four million subscribers, and two newspapers going in a county of 250,000 people.

The Times announces that it will start a morning paper called the Erie Morning News. The columnists announced are of a liberal nature by contrast with the reactionary Times pages, but the ownership will be the same and we anticipate nothing progressive in the way of thinking in this new package. Stokes, the Alsops, Robert S. Allen, and Sylvia Porter are syndicated columnists announced for the new morning paper. Which will be a challenge for area circulation where Pittsburgh and other papers with these writers are competing.

A SHARON REPORTER is supposed to be featured on The Big Story, a Friday night NBC tv show, January 18. He is Raymond Fulton, of the Sharon Herald. We are told it is supposed to involve the Tidoute bank robbery, but the robbery never has been solved, and the one defendant tried was found not guilty.

NEW YEAR'S BABY. The New Year's Day baby at Warren General Hospital was a son born at 11:39 a. m. Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Meley, Jr., 400 Third ave., Warren. The young lad will likely be the official New Year's Baby of Warren County and the recipient of the many presents offered by Warren merchants.

SLIM WEEK

Baldy Anderegg hit 600 on the nose to lead the scoring parade in a light week of league bowling. He turned it in for the Junior Industrial league.

Pete Juliano had 585 in the Commercial which ended its first half with Texas Lunch in the lead. The Merchants league also finished its half with East Side Gulf leading by a sum two points over New Process Mailing. Howie Ladner led the scoring with 562.

Pete Nichols topped the American K of C with 541. Art Check rolled 503 for the best in the Shop league. John Martin led the Penn Junior with 463. Ronald Seder had 446 to lead the Arcade Junior.

MIXED SCORING

Bob Hill spilled 245 and 614 in the Friday mixed loop to put the best over-all score of the week on the board. Betty Gray had 442. Bill Lucia had 457 and Marion Day had 338 to lead the Metzger-Wright loop.

TEN INJURED. Approximately $300 damage was caused and ten persons injured in a two-car collision that happened at 3:20 p. m., last Thursday two miles north of Warren on Route 69 (Jackson Run). Police reported that Kenneth Ferry, 31, of Chandlers Valley, was making a left turn into a private drive when he was smeared broad side by Leo Wachter, 18, Altoona, who was attempting to pass the other vehicle. The latter's auto is pictured here.

LADIES NIGHT

All of the feminine kegling took place last night. Arline Hunter posted 478 to pace the Minor, and Helen Pusateri shot 422 to lead Peg's league.

Next week most of the leagues enter their second half with fifteen weeks to go. It will be the first full one since the holidays started and the scoring should start improving as mid-season approaches. It is about time for some one to crack that 700 figure.

"GIANT STEP" LOOKING FOR BRIGHT YOUNGSTERS

Giant Step, a new CBS-TV quiz show making its debut Sunday, January 6, was previewed in this column a few weeks ago. Now we want to tell you how you can enter your seven-to-seventeen year-old youngster in this show which gives as top prizes four-year college scholarships and world travel tours.

If you have or know a child with expert knowledge on a specific subject, notify Giant Step, 575 Madison Avenue, New York City, giving the youngster's area of knowledge, name, age, address and also include a picture. If your child sounds interesting to the show's staff, he will be invited to New York for a personal interview. If he passes this test he will be notified as to when he will appear on the show. The quiz route has eight levels, similar to the big-money shows, but a contestant can reach the top goal in four weeks.

GODFREY SEEKING TALENT IN THIS AREA

The Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts program is looking for professional talent for auditions to be held in Buffalo in mid-January. Audition-passers will appear on an early February program originating from Lake Placid, N. Y.

If you know someone qualified to audition for the program write a letter stating the applicant's qualifications and professional background and mail it to Arthur Godfrey Auditions, WBEN-TV, Buffalo 2, N. Y. No telephone entries accepted.

VERSATILE ALLEN

Steve Allen, whose Sunday night spot has shanghaied a lot of viewers from you-know-who's show, has an imposing list of 1956 accomplishments in addition to his glib comedy, pro-class piano playing and refreshing approaches. He found time to write two books, a column, some music, starred in a movie, recorded some songs and gave a sermon as a qualified preacher!

Hearst's American Weekly named him among the top performers of 1956 in the sports and entertainment world.

MEET YOUR SENATOR . . . AND STATE

Walter Cronkite will host the CBS reception for new senators and their families in Washington, D. C. next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Among those who have accepted invitations is Senator Joseph Clark from Philadelphia, newly-elected last November.

Pennsylvania will also get nationwide publicity on the "Man on the Go" radio program, NBC network, next Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. The new program salutes one state each week with appropriate music, a greeting from the governor, and a ten-minute talk by Alex Dreier, noted radio commentator. Governor Leader will deliver a special greeting followed by Dreier bringing colorful, dramatic facts about the state's history, scenery, recreational attractions, famous people and industrial progress.

The program is sponsored by North American Van Lines, Inc., whose local agency is Warren Transfer & Storage Co.

SPORT SPOTS

BOXING on the Cavalcade of Sports Friday night has Ike Chestnut with Isidoro Martinez in a feather-weight bout.

BASKETBALL in the pro class has the New York Knickerbockers and the Fort Wayne Pistons Saturday afternoon via NBC.

HOCKEY'S first pro game of the season will be Saturday at 2 p. m. CBS will televise, the New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks are the participants.

DIAL SPINNERS

Jack Benny will host as well as perform in SHOWER OF STARS on CBS Thursday p. m., January 10. Contributing to the music and merrymaking will be guests Liberace, Jayne Mansfield, Vincent Price, Joan O'Brien and Rod McKuen.

MR. AND MRS. McADAM, the Playhouse 90 production next Thursday night, sounds fascinating, perhaps a little frightening. It portrays the plight of a post-hydrogen war community and the last remaining young couple fighting for survival. How this tiny remaining island of humanity works out its future is a dramatic tribute to the human capacity for love and decency. Cast includes John Kerr, Piper Laurie, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Victor Jory, Mary Astor and Elizabeth Patterson.

PRESLEY, 3rd time appearance, Ed Sullivan Show, January 6. This is all from us, boy.

THE GEORGE COHAN Story will star Mickey Rooney May 11, on Saturday Color Carnival. It will be based on the life of the performer who once was described as the man who owns Broadway. Only George M. Cohan songs will be used.

THE IMPACT WOMEN have on our times will be depicted by Wide World Sunday when many famous ladies will be interviewed on the program. They will include Helen Keller, Senator Margaret Chase Smith, Marian Anderson, Margaret Mead, Kathryn Hulme, and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt. (NBC 4 to 5:30)

SIX DIFFERENT WAYS to make electricity will be shown you Saturday at 12:30 by NBC's Watch Mr. Wizard. There is much to be learned by adults in this program.

A DUEL WITH RAPIERS will augment an interview to be given by Steve Allen Sunday night. He will take on swashbuckling Errol Flynn, both in flowing capes and plumed hats.

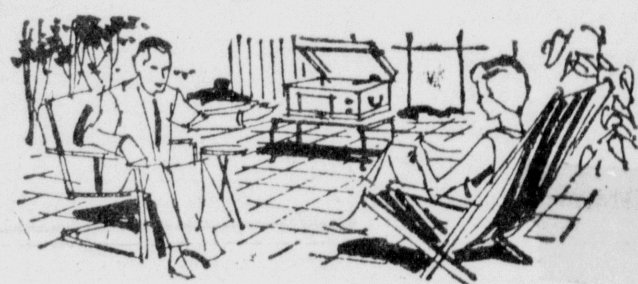

A BRAIN TUMOR will not keep Ted Husing off the air this Sunday. The Ted Husing Story will be told on Monitor in a series of vignettes from 7 to 10 p. m. Leading sports figures will be heard, and Husing's voice on a recording will describe some of the dramatic sports contests that he announced. Husing's condition is steadily improving.

OUTDOORS

STRANGE RELATIONSHIP

You might not connect bridge building and fish supply together, but they definitely are related if you want trout to catch. Keeping streams supplied with trout is a major project. A major share of the trout you catch must be placed there every year, which adds up to an expensive sport and also a less sporting one than the catching of fish which are native or have been spawned and raised in the stream where they are caught.

Two changes in streams have a major effect on the trout supply. One is bridge building. Usually the stream is widened, both for building purposes and to protect the bridge from dammed up flood waters. This widening eliminates natural shelter for trout, and also contributes to a higher temperature of the water. A wide, shallow point allows the sun's rays to warm the water. Trout cannot live in water after it passes a certain temperature.

Even more damaging is the widening of streams to carry off flood waters. We have seen much of that in this area, and we will see more. Channels are straightened out, and are widened. The dredging raises the banks to new heights to prevent floods.

The result is miles of very wide channels where the water runs thinly over the flat surface in late summer and early fall. The trout die.

We can have bridges, flood control, and trout, too. Though a stream may be widened and the far banks heightened to control its highest level, there is no reason why we can't leave a meandering primary channel in the center of the widened area. We even can leave a few large rocks for shelter.

Deep pools will result. Without them fish cannot live, and without them there is neither a place to hide nor temperature control.

We also can plant shrubbery and place fertilizer along both set of banks. Soil will be retained and shade provided.

It is not suggested that those who do the bridge-building or the dredging also take on the job of protecting fish. But a little cooperation between those who build, those who dredge, and those who supply trout would make everyone a little happier and would make our streams both safe and attractive. Attractive in appearance and attractive to trout.

HAVE YOU REPORTED?

The Game Commission is not satisfied with the deer kill reports. It is believed that too many hunters have failed to report the bucks they took home, or at least shot down. The Commission says the situation is so bad that it is considering an all-out enforcement of the requirement.

If you have shot a buck, you can be certain that others know of it. And very often they will talk. It may prove to be an expensive animal if you fail to officially report it.

If you wonder why you should bother, remember that you no doubt enjoyed the hunt and the result. You will want to do it many times again. The deer population is the job of the state, and unless it has a complete survey of what is happening to the herd it cannot do an adequate job of providing you with future targets.

BETTER HURRY

If you still want to catch a few mink and muskrats you have until January 15 (noon). The official report is that the supply is normal, but the trapping take is not large. This is due, we believe, to the low price being paid for fur, though you wouldn't know it when you buy the finished garment.

If you want to make a quick kill, find a few ponds or coves. If there is sign present you can make a fairly large kill without much traveling. We suspect that some of these older private ponds might have a few muskrats in them, and perhaps the owner would be happy to have them trapped out. Why not check?

SOUNDS INTERESTING

The January issue of the American Rifleman, published by the National Rifle Association of America, includes many articles which should fascinate those who like to shoot, hunt, and live outdoors. Take a look at this list:

HUNTING IN CANOE COUNTRY - The only way to hunt in some areas, and always a wonderful way for those who are properly equipped. The Authors -- Col. Townsend Whelen, USA (Ret'd), University City, Mo., and Bradford Angier, Cambria, Calif., are both experienced wilderness hunters.

SPRINGFIELD RIFLES AVAILABLE - Illustrating just one of the benefits of NRA membership, this announcement outlines the procedure for purchase, at low cost, of Springfield rifles offered for sale to NRA members.

NEW SURVIVAL RIFLE - A .22 cal. survival rifle weighing less than 2 lbs., it will float in water when either assembled for use or packaged within its stock. The Author - George C. Sullivan, Hollywood, Calif., developed this weapon.

CARTRIDGE COLLECTING - Written especially for the newcomer, the text and illustrations tell how to get started properly, with emphasis on the type of equipment needed. The Author - William H. Woodin, Tucson, Ariz., has collected over 6000 specimens of military ammunition of the period from 1885 to the present.

ARE YOUR SCORES IMPROVING? - A simple but effective 'quality control' method that gives a 'picture' which tells whether your shooting is improving -- or not. The Author - Tom Riley, Lincoln, Nebr., is Supervisor of Statistical Quality Control, Lincoln Division, Elgin National Watch Co.

MASS PRODUCTION AND THE ARMS COLLECTOR - Factory-made guns of the past have variations, but that doesn't really make them 'different'. The Author - Cleves H. Howell, Jr., Huntsville, Ala., is an active shooter and collector.

BEAR ON A BUDGET - Knowing where and when to go, what to take, and how to hunt, you can enjoy an economical Canadian black bear hunt. The Author - Dean Christian, Mankato, Minn., has made a number of big-game hunts on a limited budget.

FARM COUNTRY CROW SHOOTING, Carlos Vinson (Daylight, Tenn.) -- The most sporting method of controlling these farm pests.

BEGINNER'S DIGEST: 'Care and Cleaning of the Revolver -- Proper maintenance shown by photos and captions.

THEY'RE HUNGRY TO LEARN, Jack Connor (Minneapolis) -- A successful Junior shooting school that any club can duplicate.

TRAINFIRE ZERO, Lt. Col. Edgar S. Sanders, USA (Ft. Benning, Ga.) -- The Army's realistic battlefield target course for marksmanship training.

The Little Thinker

Sonny seems to have a problem and he's giving it full attention. Maybe the little thinker's wondering why "Dah-dah" is making that shrill noise as he comes striding into the room . . . Or why "Mah-mah" beams so as she looks up.

The main reason, precious mite, is that it's your first birthday, and there's to be a family party for you — with a cake and one lighted candle!

An hour ago things weren't so cheerful . . . Your dad came home with a nervous headache and wasn't up to paying homage, even to you. But a good soaking in a tubful of warm water worked wonders — eased nerves and refreshed body. That's why Dad's whistling and Mother's so pleased. Happy birthday, little man!

GRAND CHAMPION. Jimmy Blackman accepted the grand champion trophy after winning the annual YMCA Train Race last Thursday afternoon. The award was presented by Ken Peterson, general chairman of the race.

Next to Jimmy, who also won in lower age group finals, is Ed Schatzle, runner-up and champ of the 12 and older age bracket.

RACE OFFICIALS. Among the officials of the "Y" Train Races Thursday were (l. to r.) Don Schuler and Don Loper, judges; Dick Terry and Fred Bell, timers.

CONTESTANTS Ed Schatzle and John Davidson stood by as coordinator Ken Peterson and starter Jim Hill lined up their trains in the first heat of the annual "Y" Train Races. Other participants are seated in the background.

WORRIED 'EM. Dick Koebley's accuracy from the back court was only one of the headaches the Collegians gave the Style Shop when they drubbed them 76-47 Friday night.
Here the little speedster outraced Basil Kulka for a close-up.

JUMP BALL and the second quarter opened in Saturday's Gra-Y basketball game at the "Y". Home Street, in the light jerseys, emerged the victor over Lacy 30 to 18.
